

Msc in Finance 01 (entry September 2004)

A Comprehensive Study on Factoring, an alternative way of Corporate Financing.

By: George Chalikias
Supervisor: Dr. Stefanos Zarkos
Date: 16/12/2005

ALBA
LIBRARY

Table of Contents

Abstract	i
Introduction	1
Chapter 1. Factoring, Motivation and Objectives of Thesis	2
1.1 Factoring Facts	2
1.2 Motivation	3
1.3 Objectives Stated and Motivation of Thesis	4
Chapter 2. Operation of Factoring, types, costs, services	5
2.1 How does Factoring operates	5
2.2 Services that Factoring offers	7
2.3 Types of Factoring	8
2.3.1 Domestic Factoring	9
2.3.2 International Factoring	9
2.3.3 Reverse Factoring; a different approach	10
2.4 Costs of Factoring	11
2.5 Credit Insurance	11
Chapter 3. Evaluation of Factoring as a Financing Tool	13
3.1 Advantages of Factoring	13
3.2 Advantages compared to conventional Banking Loan	14
3.3 Disadvantages of factoring	15
Chapter 4. The Greek Case	16
4.1 Facts about Greek SMEs	16
4.1.1 Strengths and Weaknesses	17
4.2 Legal Framework and Business Environment	18
4.3 Factors operating in Greece	21
4.4 The Greek factoring market	24
4.5 The European factoring market	25
4.5.1 EU and Greek market; comparison	26
4.5.2 Conclusion	28
4.6 Prospects of Factoring in Greece	29
Chapter 5. Summary conclusions of Thesis	31
References	34
Appendix	36